GOLD PLATED NEEDLES

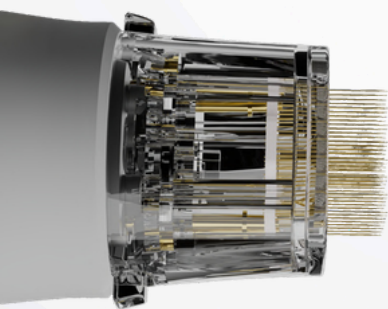

Surgical steel and plating products have excellent durability, while needles prevent allergic reactions.

0.18MM THIN NEEDLES

The diameter of the needle is only 0.18mm. Compared with most 0.3mm needles on the market, the thin needle can reduce epidermal and subcutaneous trauma and speed up skin repair.

The needle tip is only 0.01mm

RejuvaRF is specialized equipment for both face and body treatment. It is a device based on RF technology and has fewer risks of side effects. It can treat both epidermis and dermis and is effective for all skin types. Its dual fractional RF mode and database technology works to deliver energy to the target areas without any energy loss. Guaranteeing fewer risks of Post inflammatory Hyperpigmentation (PIH), it can heal wounds quickly from surrounding tissues. The product has its applications mainly in facial treatment which includes skin-tightening, skin whitening, skin rejuvenation and in body treatments concerning acne, wrinkles, stretch marks and scars.
